Dividends

KOBE STEEL GROUP

- Kobe Steel takes its financial condition, business performance, future capital needs and other factors into overall consideration as a basis to pay continuous and stable dividends. Dividends are decided after taking into account the business performance of each period, the dividend payout ratio, and other factors.
- At this time, net income attributable to owners of the parent is anticipated to become net loss. Taking this and other factors into overall consideration, Kobe Steel has unfortunately passed a resolution at its Board of Directors meeting on a policy to forgo the year-end dividend.

Consolidated Sales & Ordinary Income by Segment

Iron & Steel

- The sales volume of steel products decreased year on year as demand fell mainly for automobiles overseas, although demand remained firm for automobiles in Japan. The sales prices of steel products increased year on year, reflecting a rise in prices of the main raw materials.
- Production equipment trouble that occurred in the previous year and the impact from natural disasters were resolved. Although production costs steadily improved, Kobe Steel was late in reflecting the higher prices of the main raw materials in the sales prices of steel products, while sales volume decreased, leading to a worsening of ordinary loss year on year.

Welding

- Demand for welding consumables remained firm mainly in domestic construction. Overseas, demand for shipbuilding bottomed out mainly in the Republic of Korea, while demand was sluggish in Thailand, Indonesia and other countries.
- Demand for welding systems remained firm in domestic construction.
- As a result, both segment sales and profits increased year on year.

Aluminum & Copper

- The sales volume of aluminum rolled products decreased year on year as demand declined for semiconductors and in IT.
- The sales volume of copper rolled products decreased year on year as demand declined for semiconductors and automotive terminals.
- Ordinary loss worsened year on year owing to lower sales volume, the impact of equipment trouble at the U.S. manufacturing subsidiary for suspension parts, the worsening of the impact on inventory valuation from the fall in ingot prices, and other factors.

Consolidated Sales & Ordinary Income by Segment
Machinery

- Segment sales decreased compared with the same period last year, which saw the posting of sales from large orders centered on compressors for the petrochemical sector.
- Ordinary income increased owing to the improved profitability of orders, increased orders for after-sales services, and other factors.

Consolidated Sales & Ordinary Income by Segment

Construction Machinery

- Unit sales of hydraulic excavators in Japan increased year on year on the back of firm construction investments. Unit sales overseas decreased year on year as demand declined from delays in infrastructure construction in Southeast Asia, although demand in China was firm.
- Unit sales of crawler cranes decreased year on year as competition from overseas manufacturers intensified mainly in Southeast Asia.
- Segment sales decreased due to changes in the composition of hydraulic excavators sold in China, the decrease of sales volume in Southeast Asia, the impact of the high yen against the euro and Chinese renminbi on exchange rates, and other factors.
- Ordinary income decreased due to a decrease in the reversal of allowance for doubtful receivables year on year, in addition to lower sales and higher fixed costs, including development costs and other costs.

Electric Power

- The amount of electricity sold was higher year on year owing to the start of the No. 1 unit of the Moka Power Plant. However, the unit price of electricity decreased year on year affected by a market fall in the price of fuel for power generation. As a result, segment sales decreased year on year.
- Ordinary income increased, compared with the same period last year, which incurred costs for financing a new electric power generation project in Kobe, in addition to the start of operation of the No. 1 unit of the Moka Power Plant.
